Hadith of the week

لَا يُؤْمِنُ أَحَدُكُمْ حَتَّى يُحِبَّ
لَأَخِيهِ مَا يُحِبُّ لِنَفْسِهِ

None of you truly believes until he loves for his brother
what he loves for himself

[Sahih Bukhari, Volume 1, Book 2, Number 15]

[Al-Bukhari and Muslim]

The message of this hadith is not to do something to someone else that you would not want to be done for you.

Choose Your Own Adventure: Why Subject Selection is a Personal Journey!

As the end of the month approaches, the year nines are drawing closer to the important task of choosing their subjects, which will have a significant impact on their future careers. Unfortunately, many of them do not take this decision seriously, often opting for a subject simply because their friends or teachers are choosing it. However, it's crucial to remember that subject selection is a personal decision, and parents and teachers are only there to offer advice. It's essential to choose a subject that aligns with your career aspirations, or one that you are genuinely interested in and will perform well in, especially if you haven't yet decided on a career path. Blindly following your peers may result in regret later on, and it's important to make a thoughtful and informed decision when it comes to your future. Ultimately, the responsibility falls on the individual to make the best choice for themselves.

Lights, Camera, Action: Year 9 Girls Take on Drugs in Epic Skit!

Wow, did you see that amazing skit the year 9 girls performed at the Friday assembly? It was all about the dangers of taking drugs and it was totally awesome! The girls really brought their A-game and delivered a performance that was both educational and entertaining. They showed us the harmful effects of drugs in a way that was easy to understand and engaging. The skit was packed with drama and humor. The girls did an excellent job of portraying the physical and mental effects of drug abuse, and they even had a few funny moments that kept the audience laughing.

One of the highlights of the skit was when the girls showed us the different ways drugs can affect the brain. They used props and costumes to demonstrate how drugs can make you feel confused, dizzy, or even paranoid. It was hilarious to see one of the girls stumbling around like a zombie after taking a fake drug! But the skit also had a serious message. The girls reminded us that drug abuse can lead to addiction, health problems, and even death. They encouraged us to seek help if we ever feel tempted to try drugs or if we know someone who is struggling with addiction. Overall, the skit was a fantastic way to educate us about the dangers of drug abuse. The girls did a great job of making the topic fun and engaging while still delivering an important message. It was clear that they had put a lot of effort into their performance, and it definitely paid off!

Student Council Shake-Up!

Attention! We have some exciting news to share with you. Our beloved President, Sabrin, has left the school to pursue other opportunities. We wish her all the best in her future endeavors. But don't worry, we have a capable and talented Acting President to lead us through this transition. Please join us in congratulating Yasir, our Deputy President, on his new role as Acting President. Yasir has been an integral part of the Student Council and has already proven himself to be a dedicated and hardworking leader. Fartun Harun was appointed as the new deputy president by the election council.

The two will be working tirelessly to ensure that our school continues to thrive and that the students' voices are heard. We are excited to see what the future holds under the leadership of Yasir and Fartun.

Let's all give them our support in their leadership. Remember, the Student Council is here to serve you, so please don't hesitate to reach out with any concerns or ideas you may have.

"You need to get this right.
Being a leader is more than just wanting to lead. Good leaders empower others to be great. They are honest with people.
They don't pretend to know all. They seek ideas and feedback from people. Because that's the way you grow & become better."

Unleash Your Inner Journalist

Hey there! Are you ready to embark on an exciting journey of storytelling, reporting, and writing? Well, you're in luck because the Journalism Club is here to take you on a wild ride!

Now, I know what you might be thinking - "Journalism? That sounds like a snooze-fest!" But trust me, it's not all about sitting in a quiet room and scribbling notes. Journalism is all about diving into the thick of things, getting up close and personal with the action, and bringing important stories to light.

As members of the Journalism Club, you'll have the opportunity to unleash your creativity and let your writing skills soar. We're talking about crafting eye-catching headlines, diving deep into research, and presenting your findings in ways that will keep your audience on the edge of their seats. But that's not all - we also get to attend cool events, conduct interviews with interesting people, and even make our own videos, podcasts, blogs and vlogs! And who knows, maybe we'll even uncover a scandal or two (okay, maybe not, but we can dream, can't we?).

And if you're worried about missing out on all the fun stuff, don't be! The Journalism Club also offers opportunities to attend conferences, workshops, and events, where you can learn from the pros and network with other cool cats who share your interests.

So, what are you waiting for? Join the Journalism Club, and let's create some awesome content that will inform, entertain, and inspire others. Who knows, maybe one day, you'll be the next big thing in journalism!

Kinderworld International School conquering global world debate scene

The students are using debates to raise awareness on various social issues

BY FRANCIS MUREITHI

Kinderworld International school strongly believes that all children are talented, unique and gifted in a special way and if they are well nurtured they can gain international recognition and compete in the global arena.

The school, situated in South C in Nairobi City, is emerging as a centre of excellence in developing the art of public speaking among its students through debate.

The school is flying the national flag in international competitions and making the students attract international recognition.

The students in the school are reaping the benefits of being members of the World Scholars debate club as they are becoming more connected to their peers and school.

They are raising their awareness of social and political issues at local and international levels and today they see themselves as future global leaders.

The 30-members of the debate club gather every Thursday in a battle of minds, discussing a variety of different topics from international relations to economics and sport.

The debate club was invited to South Africa for the Pan-African debate championships where they were ranked position nine out of 150 teams across the continent.

The school queen of debate, Sabrin Khalif, who is also the school Vice-President and a national champion, was voted the best speaker in the Pan-African competition.

Following the school's sterling performance, it earned another international al invite to the Oxbridge East Africa regional debate competition held in Brookhouse.

This event opened more international doors for the school when they landed a once-in-a-lifetime invitation to participate in a debate competition in the United Kingdom.

"I had never thought I would stand before so many people. Joining the debate club is like an injection of confidence. I want to perfect my art of public speaking because I want to become a lawyer dealing with humanitarian issues," says Suban Jama, a Year Eight pupil.

"When I grow I want to use communication skills to become a better speaker to solve conflicts without resorting to violence. I want to further raise awareness of social injustices in the global community and pressing international issues like refugee immigration and climate change. I grew up in California, in the US where wildfires are common and it affected me personally," says Asmara Farah, a Year 11 pupil whose dream career is to become an international lawyer.

"I started as an amateur debater but have perfected my public speaking skills. I have realised I have immense potential in public speaking. I'm not nervous anymore when I stand before a big crowd. I help my fellow students improve their debating skills," says Zainab Mohamed, a Year 11 pupil who admires former US President Barack Obama's art of public speaking.

"Debate has helped me to have confidence whenever I'm speaking. It has also helped change my perspective in life. As a teenager, I know where I stand on many issues affecting my peers. I have an independent mind and a clear goal of what I want to achieve in life. I know many issues on human rights," says Sabrin Khalif, Year 10 pupil who wants to become a lawyer.

"Debate teaches and reinforces several standards including speaking, listening, and literacy in social studies. It also promotes excellence, creativity, critical thinking, confidence and communication skills. Our aim is to promote international understanding and free speech through debating. Our debate club is dedicated to raising young people aware of global problems who can help in creating solutions," says Catherine Outa, the teacher in charge of the debate club.

“Assalaam aleikum. We just had an opportunity of a lifetime. A moment of pride when we had the chance of representing Kenya at the Qatar International Debates Championship qualification stage. Although it was virtually done, the feeling was quite tangible and mundane. You could grasp the tension and feel the competitive atmosphere. Our Arabic debating team consisting of Fartun Harun (10 P), Hibo Muhammed (9 I), Yahya Mahmoud (9 E), and Omar Muhammed (10 Ch) really represented the school and Kenya at large with unwavering patriotism. We had some moments of nervousness, uncertainty as well as belief. It was the first time Kenya was represented in the event; since the debates were done in Arabic. We kicked off the event on the 6th of May going against Bosnia-Hersgovonia followed by Thailand in which we emerged victorious. The next day saw us go against native Arabic speakers. The first day saw us end with two wins earning us a promotion to the Native speaker's category. On day two we gracefully won the battle of minds and hearts earning us the title " The surprise of the tournament!".

We were pitted against favourites Palestine, followed by Lebanon and eventually finished the day against the defending champions Kuwait! We actually ended the tournament with four out of five wins. We only lost by a slim margin against Kuwait the defending champions! and caused an upset in the tournament standings. We qualified as the top team from Africa beating native Arabic speakers such as Tunisia, Egypt, Morocco, Mauritania as well as Sudan to the poll position in Africa. We will be representing Kenya and Africa in general at the finals in Doha Qatar later on in September. It was an experience that the entire team will live to remember! Hoyeee Kinderworld International, Hoyeee Team Kenya!”
